SIR JAMES MILLS HAS WORDS OF PRAISE FOR NEW C.-A. 'NIAGARA'

The big new trans-Pacific liner Niagara, now under construction by the Union Steamship company of New Zealand especially built for the Canadian-Australian trade, will be in every respect in keeping with the progress made in shipbuilding within the past few years, according to the reports brought to Honolulu today with the arrival of Sir James Mills, Managing Director of the company who was a passenger in the Matson Navigation liner Honolulu.

Sir James is enroute to New Zealand after a year's absence on the mainland and in Great Britain.

"The new Niagara is well under way and should be completed along the first part of June and ready to take her place in the Canadian-Australian service."

According to predictions modestly vouched for by the British steamship magnate who is awaiting passage in the liner Marama for the Antipodes, the advent of the Niagara into the service will insure the traveling public a vessel that is claimed will outclass anything yet seen in Pacific waters. Her dimensions are:—524 ft. 6 in., 66 ft., 37 ft., 6 in., and she will be about 13,000 tons G. R. Her passenger and cargo equipment will be of the highest and most modern class. She is to be a 17-knot ship, and is being fitted with combined reciprocating and turbine machinery, having three propellers, two driven by reciprocating engines and the third by low-pressure turbine. This type of machinery has been adopted in some of the largest Atlantic liners, and has given most satisfactory results. An interesting feature of the new vessel is that she will be fitted to burn either liquid fuel or coal. This involves special arrangement of bunkers and will add very much to the cost of the ship, but the company feels that its enterprise in this direction will be justified by the many advantages which oil fuel affords. Among these advantages is the fact that a very considerable section of the ship, namely, that portion which is devoted to the carriage of oil, will be both airtight and watertight, and this will render her practically unsinkable. It may also be of interest to mention that she will not only be provided with more than sufficient boats to deal with her full complement of crew and passengers, but she will also be fitted with a supplementary electrical installation to maintain light on deck and throughout the passenger accommodations in the event of the main dynamo in the engine room being disabled through any mishap. An interesting feature as regards the accommodation will be the large number of rooms without upper berths. These will be available for either one or two passengers, and should be much appreciated by the traveling public. The company realizes the possibility of great expansion in the frozen produce trade between Australia and Canada, and it is making adequate provision in the new vessel for the carriage of refrigerated cargo. Like all the passenger steamers of the Union S. S. company, the Niagara will be equipped with wireless telegraphy.

Alexander Hume Ford was among the number of local promotionists who met Sir James at the wharf this morning, prepared to show him all the courtesies of the port and city. George Davies of T. H. Davies and company placed a motor car at the disposal of the distinguished steamship man.

Sir James has spent some time in London and also visited the shipbuilding plant where the Niagara is now under completion. He declined to state as to what progress had been made in negotiations toward inducing the Union Steamship company to inaugurate a regular San Francisco service.

Sir James Mills will depart for Auckland on or about ten o'clock this evening. It is about one year ago that he called here while enroute to the mainland, transshipping his port from a Canadian-Australian liner to a Matson Navigation steamer.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a tonic and alternative, free from alcohol. What is a "tonic"? A medicine that imparts strength or tone; a medicine that builds up, gives vigor and power. What is an "alternative"? A medicine that alters or changes unhealthy action to healthy action. Ayer's Sarsaparilla does all this without stimulation. Ask your doctor if a family medicine, like Ayer's Sarsaparilla, is not vastly better without alcohol than with it.
